A GIFT FOR VERONA

J. B. D. Meeds, the Pittsburg Banker, is to Found a Public Library.

HIS OFFER OF $4,500 FOR PROPERTY

His Idea of Getting the Public Interested in Its Maintenance.

A THRIVING BOROUGH GETS EXCITED

Mr. J. B. D. Meeds, the Treasurer of the Dollar Savings Bank, of this city, is trying to do something handsome for Verona. That is where he lives. He has long been regarded as one of the most popular townsmen of the prettiest borough on the Allegheny Valley Railroad. An opportunity has now evidently been snatched by the gentleman It is to be a public library. On next

Wednesday night the trustees of the Presbyterian Church at Oakmont station will hold a meeting to consider two offers for the purchase of their building. The property is in the market because a larger edifice is needed for purposes of worship. One offer is from the Baptist congregation, who want it for their own services. The other offer is from Mr. Meeds, who proposes to give $4,500 for the brick church building. This is almost $500 more than the Baptists have bid, and Mr. Meeds will probably get the

THE LIBRARY OFFER. Mr. Meeds' intention, if he gets the building, is to have it remodelled into a public library. This is his work as the pioneer in the movement. Then he wants the citizens to organize a library company on the basis of the Pittsburg Library Association, and have all members raise money to stock it with books-fine ones and plenty of them. Of course, he is generally supposed to be wealthy enough to buy the books, too, but his object in having a great many persons subscribe the funds is to enlist a general interest in the maintenance of such an institution. As an indication of Mr Meeds earnestness in the project, it may be stated that he has offered about $1,000 more than the church property's market value.

Mr. Meeds is the gentleman who, upon building a new residence at Verona a few years ago, presented his old homestead to the Pittsburg Society for the Improvement of the Poor, as a county home for poor children from the city. The grounds are loyely, and every summer hundreds of puny little children are taken out there in semi-monthly installments, and nursed back to something like natural life, on milk and cream from Mr. Meeds own dairy. Thus many lives have been rescued from Oakmont is a fashionable quarter, many prominent business men of Pitts-burg residing there. It has so many charming mansion houses that already it is called "the Sewickley of Allegheny Valley."

Hulton has grown wonderfully fast within the last few years. Clerks and small business men have built snug little homes there, and what was once only known to the world

There is room for a library in so diversified population. The project now set on toot by Mr. Meeds has therefore become a
